Claims 12-16 and 18 are objected to because of the following informalities:
There is a lack of antecedent basis for "each enclosure" in Claim 12. The language in Claim 13 appears to be awkward. There is a lack of antecedent basis for "the line" in Claims 14-16. The elements recited in Claim 18 appear to have already been recited in Claim 17. Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-4 and 7-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Paulsson (5,325,259).

Paulsson discloses a protective device for a series capacitor and quickly closes the circuit via (BR) (for Claims 19-21). The device comprises annular (for Claim 8) main spark gap electrodes (11, 12), which become triggered via an auxiliary spark gap having guide rails (21, 22). The guide rails are reasonably considered to be “substantially parallel” (for Claim 2) and are longer than the width of the gap. One rail (21) is at the same potential as one electrode (11) of the main spark gap (for Claim 9). There is a mechanical contact device (BR) in parallel with the main spark gap (for Claim 10). Paulsson does not appear to disclose use of hermetic enclosures or gaseous medium. However, it would have been obvious to use hermetic enclosures to prevent moisture and/or contaminants from the operating environment from invading and contaminating the spark gaps, and thus, leading to improper overall performance and lower product longevity. The gaseous medium helps to maintain a desired spark gap breakdown threshold, leading to anticipated and reproducible results.

Claims 5 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a Statement of Reasons for the Indication of Allowable Subject Matter: There does not appear to be strong motivation for modifying the device of Paulsson so as to include a shielding device between the guide rails and the main spark gap.
